

It is one of work and life's great pleasures to continue to evolve our Wine List. We get to talk and listen to some of the best winemakers and vigneron in the country. We get to learn about what makes a particular wine from a certain area so special. We get to see and taste their vision in each bottle of their wine. We get to promote the next generation of Hunter Valley, NSW and Australian wine stars as well as established Australian and international masters.

So read, dabble and drink your way through our list confident in the fact that every single wine has been handpicked for its diversity, sense of place and most importantly, its drinkability.

White Wines

Semillon

As self appointed international Hunter Valley Semillon ambassadors, we feel it's about time to celebrate and share one of the greatest expressions of this variety made anywhere in the world.

The Hunter has a rare affinity with Semillon. Some say it's the Hunter's abundance of old river beds that run through some of the regions and Australia's best and oldest vineyards. Some say it is the unique climate of hot weather, coastal influence and sometimes (more often than not) late season rainfall that suit the early ripening Semillon grape.

Whichever way you look at it Semillon is an amazing variety. In its youth it is vibrant, full of fresh citrus and refreshing acidity. As a cellaring wine it is one of the greatest in the world and can live for 20 or more years transforming into a rich, soft and full wine that has amazing complexity and texture.

When young it's great with fresh seafood. Think oysters, prawns and white-fleshed fish; at 10 or so years it goes with smoked trout, scallops, roast chicken and lobster.

A bottle of good Hunter Semillon, some seafood and close friends is one of life's great pleasures.

Pokolbin

Home of some of the most well known producers and oldest vineyards this region strives for elegance, complexity and purity of flavour. Pokolbin has a unique combination of sandy soils, rich in nutrients and a unique local microclimate that provide these wines with incredible aging potential.

Semillon Cont.

Mount View

Located across the beautiful Mount View mountain range, the slight higher altitude enables the grapes to have a long and slow ripening season, resulting in ripe fruit with great acid line. These vineyards are situated in rich, basalt, volcanic soils.

Broke Fordwich

Broke is separated from Pokolbin by the Broken Back ranges. This lesser known area of the Hunter Valley with its gentle slopes has vineyards that are slightly cooler than the other side of the range. Here a small group of around twenty growers have innovation on their minds and in their vinous hearts.

Wollombi

Wollombi Brook begins life as Congewai creek in the Watagan Mountains and meanders through over 90 km of valleys to join the Hunter River near Singleton. Some wineries are privileged to share its banks. Boutique producers are increasingly crafting wines that focus on individual expressions of the Semillon variety.

Riesling

More people should drink Riesling. Once the most expensive variety in the world now it is a misunderstood bargain. It has the ability to dance between steely wines with driving citrus acidity to a lovely textured wine balancing residual sugar with cleansing acidity. It matches a wide range of food from fresh seafood to Asian inspired dishes. Drink some now.

Gewurztraminer

Gewürztraminer is one of the hardest wine grapes to spell, but one of the easiest to recognize when you've got a glass of it in front of you. With its distinctive aromas of rose petal and lychee many of the New World countries now make superb wines with the grape. A drier style of Gewürz tends to prevail, which has greater acidity and is less 'full on' than its European counterparts.

Rosé Wines

Rosé

There's never been a better time to be an Australian Rosé drinker, from barely pink mountain-grown Pinot Gris to almost-red hot country Grenache; from delicate, floral Pinot Noir to sturdy, savoury Italian and Spanish varieties all these compare to the best of the best from Provence. A good, food-friendly, dry rosé tends to go with pretty much anything

Red Wines

Burgundy

When it's good, it's ethereally aromatic, with flavours ranging from ripe red berries to sweet black cherries, and tannins that are firm but never obtrusive. There is something special about drinking a fine Burgundy and tasting the vineyard where it came from.

Grenache and Mourvedre are unlikely grape heroes. Until recently they were reviled or at best ignored in much of the world, which is shocking considering they can be a main inclusion in some of the world's more celebrated reds like the wonderful Châteauneuf-du-Pape.

Châteauneuf-du-Pape, France

It is the largest and most important appellation in the southern Rhône and produces more wine than the whole of the northern Rhône combined. The gloriously rich red wines, redolent of the heat and herbs of the south, are enhanced by the complexity which comes from blending several of the 14 permitted grape varieties with the most dominant being Grenache, Mourvèdre and Syrah

Australian Icons

Penfolds Bin 95 'Grange'

Penfolds Grange is without doubt one of Australia's and the world's most famous wines. From humble beginnings in the 1950's, Grange has maintained its place as Australia's most prestigious red wine over four decades and leads the charge of Australian wines onto the world market. Today, it is a wine of international fame challenging the First Growths of Bordeaux.

Henschke 'Hill of Grace' Shiraz

One of Australia's most iconic red wines. Over 165 years ago Johann Christian Henschke came from Silesia to settle in the Eden Valley region. By the time 3rd generation Paul Alfred Henschke took over in 1914, the famous Hill of Grace Shiraz vines were more than 50 years old. It was in 1958 that Cyril Henschke, the 4th generation, made the first Hill of Grace single-vineyard Shiraz from these vines.

Cabernet Sauvignon

Cabernet Sauvignon is one of the world's most widely recognised red wine grape varieties. It ranges from blackcurrant, mint and cedar to cassis notes with black cherry and black olive. It is usually built to last and matches beautifully with red meat, especially lamb.

Bordeaux

Just the name conjures up all sorts of extraordinary wine expectations. As the fourth largest French city, the largest controlled wine growing region in France, home to over 10,000 producers and produces 70 million cases of wine per vintage, Bordeaux is the modern-day red wine Mecca, beckoning pilgrims near and far to scout for the regions crown jewel.

Left Bank

Left bank Bordeaux is produced in the appellations west of the Gironde and the Garonne. Gravelly soils predominates, allowing Cabernet Sauvignon to thrive. These wines are generally big, masculine, tannic and age worthy. Pronounced blackcurrant, leather, tobacco and earth.

Right Bank

Home to some of the world's most expensive and prestigious wines. Usually made with a high percentage of Merlot, heavy clay influences the soils here. Generally right bank wines are fruitier, softer, and certainly more approachable (due to less tannin, especially for younger vintages).
